COTTON MARKETS

Thursday Afternoon. Dec. 23.
Absolutely no confirmation for the vague rumors of financial troubles in the cotton belt circulated yesterday had something to do with more confident buying in today's market, but another factor was information from the Carolina mill district that from the Carolina mill district that some mills were resuming full time operations and had business booked which will keep them running for several months. In this connection, it was claimed by spot brokers in that section that they had luring the present month sold more cotion to, these mills than for the previous four months. From other directs as also came some items of better feet also came some items of better feel-ing and more cheerfulness as to m-mediate future. The fact that the mills and their operatives in New England had reached an agreement as to wage reductions also contributas to wage reductions also contributed to the short covering disposition. More strength in the stock market also tended to developing a legree of cheerfulness, indicating that porhaps the worst was oven there. The grain markets were diverstrength by the passage by the lower house of congress of the timergency tariff bill for the help and projection of ferre products although gency tariff bill for the help and pro-tection of farm products, although opinions from several sources dur-ing the day were that in all pro-buty the senate would either defea-the measure or radically amend it. Some of the good news was riso from abroad, it being said that indi-cations were favorable for an early cations were favorable for an early agreement being reached with Germany as to their indemnity, which would probably mean release of their segregated property in various countries, much of which could be made the basis for letting them have more raw materials.

The market opened without much

The market opened without much change in prices, but the lack of pressure was significant and gradually a better tone was shown.

Spot interests seemed to be covering quietly and there was less selling pressure than for several days. Cables were better than expected and some of the buying was credited to foreign account. March in New York opened at 14.05c, and in the late afternoon had sold as high as 14.00c, which compares with yesterday's low of 13.82c. Holiday evening up was done, but the lone was distinctly better.

Liverpool was due to come 14 to 16 points to the bad, but closed 13 up to 3 off, tone called quiet. There was little doing in spots, sales being 2,000 bales at a decline of 22 points, fully middling to 11.04d. Cables said it seemed that the worst had passed over there.
